Division Director's Annual Report--- 2005

By Stephen Francisco

First my thanks to Ray Bryan for his time spent helping to prepare me for this challenging position. Having already participated in a couple of conference calls with all the Division Directors I must say Ray did an Exceptional job of leading our Division and leaving us in great shape. Also, Thanks to the past and current board members for your participation, support, and all the hard work you have completed and have before you. We have many challenges ahead of us and I am confident that with everyone's participation we will in the forefront of the Nation Ski Patrol System.

We have put behind us several difficult issues that past season. Now it is time to tackle our new challenges. The challenges we have now are those of a new registration process, IT training, Program delivery, and as Ray Bryan states "the Achilles heal of this association" communication of and to our leaders and most importantly our members.

NSSA is working with NSP to develop a new Joint Agreement of Understanding one that is going to go a long way to help our members and area managers understand the role and importance of NSP. I am confident this will help in recruiting those areas and professionals not yet using our exceptional programs.

My goals for this season are:

- Continue the course Ray has set relating to Program delivery and use of funds.
- Work on information flow by conducting quarterly Division Board meetings two in person and two by phone conference or web host.
- Quarterly meetings with Program Supervisors
- Required IT Training Program for all IT's
- Work with the National Office with any changes to P&P's, and Program delivery.
- Focus on delivery fundamentals.
- Do these fundamental things real well.
 - Get our delivery network in top shape.
 - Make sure our instructor know what are our deliverables, and empower them to deliver.
 - Continue to reinforce the role of the IT.
 - Make sure the role of the NSP patrol representative is understood and taking place at the local level.
- Correcting our membership demographics to include all ski patrollers paid and volunteer.
- Promotion of the benefits and value of NSP education, training and credentialing to our members and ski areas.
- Use NSP funds for the right kinds of things at all levels.

THE PETITION TO AMEND THE NSP ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION

By Mike Balavage, FWD Legal Counsel

Over the past several months, the National Ski Patrol [NSP] has had a Governance Task Force working on changes to the current process of governing the organization. Before the Task Force, composed of the Board's governance committee and Division Directors from the Central Division, Alaska Division, and Southern Division could complete its assignment, the NSP Board of Directors was advised this past summer that a group of NSP members was circulating a petition to have the membership vote on certain amendments of the current Articles of Incorporation. The NSP Board was advised by counsel that such a petition was contrary to Colorado law, and the Board would be in potential violation of the law if it held such a vote.

The petitioning group then filed a legal action in Jefferson County, Colorado, seeking immediate suspension of the current NSP election. At a hearing on September 9, 2005, Judge Munsinger issued a temporary restraining order to halt the dissemination of any candidate names and to stop any solicitation of votes. Although he did not issue a final decision concerning a vote on the proposed amendments, he indicated in his ruling that the plaintiffs would likely prevail on their argument that the Board should conduct a vote on the proposed amendments. As a result of the Judge's order, the NSP Board of Directors immediately suspended any further activities concerning the election.

The Board has instructed staff members to contact the petitioning group to begin the process of conducting a fair, timely, and equitable vote on amending the Articles of Incorporation. The Board has stressed that the NSP membership should have clear, balanced information in order to make an intelligent and informed decision. Attempts are being made to implement this currently

The above item was taken from the NSP website. It comes from your Board of Directors. You can see that it's an unbiased status report.

You may have been inundated with e-mail from the self-proclaimed "patroller committee." In the interests of fairness, your new editor has requested an article for publication to the Far West members from patrollers who are passionate about telling us ... "the rest of the story." That article is in the process of being written, and will be sent out as a follow-up to this issue of the Patroller Peek.

Editorial Comment: I don't wish to draw attention to myself. I must, however, say that I was probably the only one in the room who had no idea whatsoever that I had even been considered for National appointment. Afterward, Division Awards Supervisor, Dave Ritchie, told me that it is an award given when totally unexpected and long overdue. In my case, I cannot say that was long overdue. I can say that it was truly the most humbling experience of my patrolling career.

Dave Ritchie FWD Awards Coordinator

The position of awards coordinator allows me to participate in the division in a way that lets me get to know many patrollers and to make people feel good about themselves and others. I have held the job for eight years. Prior to serving the division, I was Mother Lode Region awards coordinator for a few years and sat on the Mother Lode Region awards board since 1985.

I began patrolling at Heavenly Valley forty years ago. When Bear Valley opened in 1967 I began patrolling there. That is where I soon met and married my wife Liz, who then patrolled with me for ten years before she retired. Our daughter Robyn is now patrolling and will marry a patroller in the near future. Our son Ryan chose a different path and is now one of the top five overall ski racers on the Far West Masters circuit.

We usually take dive trips in the spring and fall to warm places with beaches. My wife thinks she deserves that after letting me patrol for 40 to 50 days a season. When the snow is gone we do road biking and a very little bit of mountain biking. We do several centuries over the summer. We have done a few weeklong bike trips.

There are a lot of good people in the NSP who deserve to be recognized. You know some of them. Take the time to nominate them for an award. Someone has done or will do the same for you some time.

- Promotion of the benefits and value of NSP education, training and credentialing to our members and ski areas.
- Use NSP funds for the right kinds of things at all levels.

Keith Tatsukawa FWD OEC Supervisor

Hi Far West Division Patrollers:

With Fall in the air and Refreshers and OEC courses beginning, I'd like to personally welcome and thank all of you fellow patrollers for your continued support of OEC in the upcoming '05-'06 season.

My name is Keith Tatsukawa and I am beginning my second season as the Far West Division (FWD) Outdoor Emergency Care (OEC) Supervisor. I began patrolling 10 years ago at a small yet challenging hill in Southern California, Mt Waterman. It was here where I first experienced being a First Responder in the winter wilderness environment. To tell you the truth, I loved it! Every educational program needs to evolve as the needs of the outdoor enthusiasts grow. OEC is no exception. This position has given me the opportunity to actively play a role in the direction of OEC for not only the Far West Division but for National Ski Patrol as an organization. The OEC program as we now know it is going through some much needed growing pains. To keep up with the demands of the ever-growing outdoor community, NSP has challenged the OEC program to improve our quality and accountability beyond what it has ever been in the past. In order to accomplish this, task forces at the National, Division and Region levels have been coordinated to focus on the ROLE OF THE INSTRUCTOR TRAINER. The FWD has implemented a mandatory directive that ALL IT's attend an Instructor Trainers Workshop by November 6th '05. This is not only for OEC Instructor Trainers. ALL IT's in all disciplines must comply. Contact your Region Directors for more information on dates and locations for workshop delivery.

Other OEC news on the horizon is the new and improved OEC 5th edition scheduled for release in July 2007. One of the main differences with this 5th edition is that NSP will control 90% of its content as opposed to only 10% in the previous edition. Experts, inside NSP and out, are currently reviewing chapters for content and accuracy. From what I have seen so far of it, it will be greatly improved in content and organization from previous editions.

Lastly, please join me in welcoming a few new appointments for OEC in the FWD.

The newly appointed Northern region OEC advisor is Ron Winkelman. Ron has been a patroller for Mt Shasta since 1997. Ron is an OEC as well as an Alpine Toboggan Instructor. As an operating room R.N., Ron's knowledge of the importance to detail and Quality Assurance will certainly keep our OEC program on its toes.

winkelman@snowcrest.net

The newly appointed Eastern Sierra Region (ESR) OEC advisor is Tim O'Brien an Alpine Senior and National Appointment recipient. Tim is a multi-discipline Instructor of OEC, Alpine toboggan and Instructor Development and also an I.T. of OEC and Alpine Toboggan. Tim has been a volunteer Ski Patroller at Squaw Valley since 1977.

Barbara Hickman who you all already know as (among other things) the Motherlode Region OEC Administrator has now accepted the position as the FWD OEC Assistant Supervisor. Barbara will be assisting me in managing the Division OEC Supervisor duties throughout the Far west division. Please help me welcome Barbara to her new Division responsibility.

Again to all of you Far West Division Patrollers, have a great upcoming season of patrolling. Have FUN, save lives and most of all, BE SAFE, so that we can all be around another season to do this all over again!

My very best wishes,

Keith Tatsukawa
FWD OEC Supervisor

The above graph represents data collected from the '04-'05 season. In order to add relevance to the data, the graph has been adjusted to the very large variation in the number of registered patrollers for each Division. With this normalization, the patrols with smaller patroller numbers can be equally compared and represented to larger patrols.

I'd like to call your attention in particular to the number of OEC courses taught in the FWD, expressed as a percent of total number of OEC Instructors in the Division. The FWD had only two divisions doing better than us out of a total of 13 Divisions in the NSP. I would like to do better in the year to come. Those of us who have chosen to be instructors, this season, let's get out there and register and teach courses.

Karl Chulski FWD Mountain Travel & Rescue Supervisor

As we remember the excellent season of last year, with white mountain peaks still visible in many parts of the Far West Division, it's time to prepare for the fast approaching next winter season. Increasing our skills through training, requires planning for that training now. Remember the reports of people who became lost and stranded in the mountains last season? Going out-of-bounds is becoming increasingly popular. Backcountry access is more available. How well prepared are you, if called upon, to venture into the winter wilderness? OEC gives us the first aid skills to handle the injuries we may find. But to be truly prepared, we must also know how to cope with the weather and shelter when away from the safety of the resort lodge. This is the goal of the MTR program, to prepare you to be a more valuable, and confident, patroller in the winter environment.

There are three classes, First, the MTR Fundamentals, which is only one day of classroom and one day (only until dusk!) of field work. This is a great class for an Auxiliary and anyone who is not personally ready to be part of a search team, but wants to become familiar with what takes place during a search and rescue. By becoming familiar with what is taking place in the field, one can become a valuable member of the SAR in the command center. There is a much preparation and work that needs to be done there too! The course is designed to familiarize patrollers with search protocol and includes an introduction to map & compass, hasty shelter, weather, and thermal properties of clothing.

Want a little more training? The MTR Basic class includes all of the above, plus an overnight stay in a shelter you build! You test your skills and knowledge of the winter environment and learn what works and what doesn't, first hand. MTR instructors are present to be sure no one gets into trouble.

After completing Basic, there are still more skills available. There is the MTR Advanced class with two nights in the shelter of your choice. This increases your knowledge of the winter environment. with classroom sessions cover where the topics in depth. The extended stay outdoors furthers the wilderness experience.

As the new Far West Division Supervisor I look forward to this new season and meeting and working with everyone in the Division. If you know that your skills need a boost in this area and are curious as to what the class and field work is all about, give your Patrol Rep a call. He can direct you to a local MTR person. A big "thank you" to Robert Parkhurst, as he steps down as MTR Division Supervisor and passes the files to me. I will carry on the goals for the MTR program you have initiated!

Lance Vaughan, FWD OET Supervisor

(OET = Outdoor Emergency Transportation formerly known as Toboggan)

I have had the honor of serving the National Ski Patrol since 1985. My father was a patroller and I grew up skiing my home hill, Dodge Ridge, first in the racing program, next as a PSIA instructor and finally, as a patroller. I earned my Senior status in 1995 and became an NSP/APP Certified Patroller in 1999. I served several years as the Mother Lode Region Toboggan Advisor working on region wide delivery of NSP programs. In 2002, I was awarded National Appointment 9652. In 2004, I was presented a Gold Merit Star for my contributions as the Outstanding patrol Representative in the NSP. Patrolling is a family affair; my three siblings are patrollers along with my father, his new wife and her daughter. I hope someday my own sons, Cameron 5, and Duncan 3 will wear a cross with the same pride as the rest of the family.

In my Division role, I'd like to continue finding best practices and spreading those ideas across our regions. I'd also like to increase awareness of the roles of each OET position: Region OET Administrator, IT, Instructor, Mentor, Instructor Candidate, and Patroller.

As staffing levels allow, I am trying to ensure:

- Qualified OET IT's on each patrol, identified and trained by season's end. (We are nearly there, I'm happy to report.)
- Clearly defined roles and identified OET Instruction staff from patrol level up.
- Formalized Region Training Calendars offering needed/desired courses for members to increase skills
- Regional IT staff attending a Skills Seminar to share best practices, techniques and skills.
- Increased Mentor Program awareness & more opportunities for members to become instructors.
- Each Region hosts a Women's OET Seminar (already slated for Eastern and Mother Lode Regions).

The best chance of realizing these goals will come from the combined efforts of the excellent FWD OET staff and you, the members, asking for classes and attending them. Together we can raise the skills and knowledge of all our members at the patrol and region level. Traveling to another hill to attend, teach, or mentor a class, allows everyone to share ideas. Thus begins the creation of a shared vision for improved skills and techniques. Ideas, both new and old, will go back to your home patrol thereby benefiting your entire hill.

I believe we all gain when we offer a better product to the organizations we serve – Ski resorts and National Forests. Investing in your skills and education provides us with the best return on our efforts and improves our assets. I support and encourage opportunities to make us all better and more skilled patrollers, instructors, and skiers. Tell us how we can help you become a stronger patroller. It is our job to help you. You alone generate our public and industry reputation. I feel that our most valuable asset is the well-trained, competent patroller.

Dave Rhodes

FWD Certified Supervisor

With Labor Day most of us begin to think about the OEC refreshers right around the corner and the fast approaching winter. My name is Dave Rhodes and I am beginning my second season as the Far West Division Certified Program supervisor. Most weekends you will find me patrolling the mountain at Dodge Ridge in the Mother Lode Region.

The FWD Certified Program had a very successful season in 2004/2005 thanks to the time and energy put forth by the Regional Certified Program Administrators, Mike Nolen, Richard Roth and Leon Wachtel. Four Regional training clinics were held in February and March at June Mountain, Snow Summit, Mountain High and Sierra Summit to prepare patrollers for certified tests. About 20 candidates participated in these clinics, with training provided by 8 to 10 fully certified patrollers.

This commitment to training led to a highly successful APP (Association of Professional Patrollers) Spring Clinic at Mammoth Mountain for the NSP patrollers who tested there the first week of May. Seventeen candidates from the Mother Lode, Southern California and Arizona regions achieved certified status in a total of 39 modules. One candidate from Southern California completed his 9th and final module- congratulations to our newest fully Certified Patroller, Stanley Aari!

In the coming season I look forward to building on the successes of this past season. There currently are about 35 FWD patrollers who are active in the program, having certified in one or more modules in the past several years, and I expect a number of them to be able to complete the testing this year. The program will continue to require strong leadership and commitment at the Regional level as we had this past season. Training clinics are being planned at several mountains throughout the Division. Look for dates and locations on your Regional calendar or check with your Regional Certified Program Administrator.

In the Far West Division the NSP Certified Program is closely aligned with the APP Certified Program. This relationship benefits both organizations by coordinating training and testing standards and producing some of the most highly skilled patrollers in the nation. This in turn provides resort managers in the Far West with a pool of outstanding volunteer and paid patrollers in leadership positions on their mountains.

The Certified Program is appropriate for Senior patrollers who want to enhance their patroller skills in all aspects of patrolling, including mountain operations and risk management, avalanche management, and rope rescue/ lift evacuation. For additional information on becoming a NSP Certified Patroller contact your Regional Certified Program Administrator or email me at drhodes528@sbcglobal.net.

Tri-Advisory Far West Division

2005 - Fall Educational Conference

Starting out some 20-plus years ago, a handful of like-minded patrollers wanting to tap into each other's collective knowledge. Since then, the Tri-Advisory has grown to become a "not-to-miss", key educational conference within the Far West Division of National Ski Patrol.

At the Tri-Advisory, Division Supervisors, Region Administrators, Instructor Trainers, Instructors and Patrollers in the disciplines of Avalanche, Mountain Travel & Rescue and Nordic Patrols, all gather to develop contacts, swap ideas and expand their knowledge and skills.

Yeah-but ... if you're a patroller interested in the backcountry, wanting to gain new skills but you're unsure where to begin, the Tri-Advisory is a great place to start! First, you'll get to know the key instructors from your region who will mentor you locally. Next, you'll hear from people who have "been-there, done-that" who will share their experiences and opinions. You will learn about training, skills and trip details. Oh-yeah ... You need to be here!

From the early days to today, the Tri-Advisory's list of presenters has included in-house, highly skilled and experienced patrol members, top professionals and high-profile "outsiders", all sharing their experiences from around the world or as close to home as our Sierras. What brings them together is their enthusiasm for the outdoors and for working with people, all in the spirit of alpinism. This year is no different ... were developing an outstanding agenda!

This year's Tri-Advisory will again be held on Saturday and Sunday, November 5th & 6th, at The Yosemite Bug Lodge located just outside Yosemite Valley, in Midpines, California. The Bug provides an excellent venue for this event, giving us the convenience of lodging, dining and meeting all at one comfortable and relaxing mountain setting. Lodging options include cabins with baths, private rooms, dorm style rooms, "Yosemite Style" tent cabins and campsites. This classic, rustic resort offers a warm and inviting "Bistro" style café serving fabulous American & Mediterranean cuisine. Enjoy a beer on tap, a glass of wine or a roasted "Bug Blend" coffee outside on the deck looking out towards Yosemite Valley and the Sierras. It's all good!

Bring your family and friends. In addition to the Tri-Advisory agenda--not to mention Saturday evening's dinner and entertainment ... we've put together a list of "To-Do's" for your family in and around the area. What a great getaway ... your family will have a hoot!
